BURBANK!

THE SECOND GRAND EXCURSION

Will Leave the Commercial-street Station at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, March 31, 1888.

Only 20 minutes' ride to Burbank. Returning, will reach Los Angeles at 8:30 p.m.

There will be no auction sale and no one will be asked to purchase property. Our only object is to afford an opportunity to all to see Burbank and form their own opinion from a personal examination of its merits. In this lively competition for public favor among the growing towns of Southern California, the zealous (and sometimes jealous) advocate of his own town will detract from the merits of some rival locality that is pushing past him to the front. In this way some unfair statements have been put forth as to the merits of Burbank. So confident are we that a personal visit to Burbank will refute and silence all such statements, we have decided to run this pleasure excursion and invite every one to join us, spend a pleasant day, examine and decide for themselves. We have never had but one excursion, never employed a brass band nor had street parades; have offered no lottery schemes to tempt purchasers to invest. But, without any show or parade, we have in a few months sold over 900 town lots and 2000 acres of land adjoining, aggregating nearly $600,000. In less than ten months a grain field has been converted into a growing, prosperous town of over 250 bona fide inhabitants. Water, pure, clear and abundant, has been piped to every lot in the town. A 60-room hotel, a street car line one and a half miles in length completed and in operation, brick block erected, stores and bank building completed, a $7000 schoolhouse under contract, two churches in process of construction, a furniture manufactory to employ from 100 to 200 workmen and to be in operation by June 1st, and new dwellings being commenced every day, bespeak for Burbank a push and prosperity not surpassed by any town of its age in the State of California.

NOTE THE FACT: That Burbank is today the most prosperous suburb of Los Angeles; that Burbank will within 90 days have better and cheaper railroad communication with Los Angeles than any other suburban town; that Burbank will have the largest furniture factory on the Pacific Coast; that Burbank has the most perfect water system, the purest and a superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in summer and warm in winter; that Burbank is the Commercial center of one of the most fertile and fruitful valleys in Southern California; that Burbank is surrounded by a country that will grow all kinds of cereals and fruits, including oranges and lemons, olives and English walnuts; that the Ostrich Farm Motor Road will be completed to Burbank within 60 days.

Round Trip Tickets, Twenty-five (25) Cents. Tickets can be had at the office of the company.

Real Estate—Walteria.

WALTERIA!

—AN ALL-THE-YEAR-ROUND RESORT!

CHEAP HOMES! RICH FARMS!

Pure Air and Delightful Scenery!

In this glorious California, each location claims superiority over all the others, and each has some advantages the other has not. In no one place do the powers that be combine all the excellence and variety of California in one space as it does in WALTERIA.

It is situated 18 miles southwest of Los Angeles, three miles from Redondo Beach and one and a half miles from the ocean. The townsite is located at the base and on the Palos Verdes hills. The country for miles around presents a most beautiful and ever-changing panorama. It faces the north-east and west, and one never tires watching the effects of nature's forces on land and water. In the west we see Redondo in its future greatness and prosperity. Santa Monica Bay, with Santa Monica nestled beneath the mountains which form the background of our picture in that direction. On the north, after the eye has passed over the intervening valley, we see Los Angeles, with the foothills of Pasadena and the Sierra Madre Mountains for a background, with Old Baldy and the San Bernardino Mountains with their snow-capped summits in the far distance. On the east we see San Pedro Bay and Long Beach, with many flourishing and pleasant settlements dotted here and there. All unite in making WALTERIA the pleasantest of resorts, as well as a most attractive place for homes.

Meadow Park, of which WALTERIA is a subdivision, is divided into blocks of two and a half, five, ten and twenty acres, suitable for small fruit farms, making a pleasant home for one of moderate means, or an excellent opportunity for speculation. Building material will be furnished at first cost, as brick and lime are now being burnt on the premises, and lumber can be had at Redondo. Direct railroad communication will be had with Redondo and Los Angeles, making the distance no disadvantage.

A LIMITED NUMBER OF CHOICE LOTS WILL BE SOLD ON THE FOLLOWING TERMS:

One-fourth cash, one-fourth on June 1st, provided a car line has been built and in operation, or as soon after as said line has been built between Walteria and Redondo, and the balance on the first day of December, 1888.

Provided water has been piped to the lots, or as soon after as water has been piped to said lots.

Lots vary in price, according to size and location, from $150 to $300. Size of lots, 25x125, 50x100, 50x162 and 50x200. 60, 70 and 100 foot avenues; 20-foot alleys.

Only Three Hundred Lots to be Sold at Present Prices.

All parties who desire to build can have their time payments extended to suit their own convenience, at 8 per cent. annual interest, the fact of this tract being put on the market at the above prices, in advance of the Santa Fe R. R., which is now being constructed to this point, is a guarantee that with its completion prices must double within 60 days. Call early and make a selection.

A SHOCKING PLAY.

SYNOPSIS OF SARDOU'S LATEST PLAY.

"La Tosca" a Tale of Illicit Affection,
Murder, Murder and Suicide -
"Scarpia" Cool and Brutal Malignity -
Ghastly Wind Up of the Play.

(New York Herald.)

Sardou's remarkable play, "La Tosca," in which Miss Davenport has shocked the sensitive morality of New Yorkers, has attracted so much interest that the following outlines of it will be read with interest: Victorien Sardou has chosen Rome for the scene of his new play. The period is June 18, 1800, two days after the battle of Marengo. The heroine is "Flora Tosca," a cantatrice, an outcast, and an ultra royalist. The hero is "Mario Cavaradossi," a painter. "Mario's" father was a Roman patriot, and from him he inherits his passion for art. His mother was a French woman, and from her he inherits his fiery instincts. He is a man being tortured to the flame by the French revolution. "Mario" is a thorough republican. As such he is looked upon with suspicion by the Bourbons, then reigning at Rome, and is suspected and watched by the Roman police.

The young artist, "Mario Cavaradossi," is sitting alone in the Church of St. Andrea, painting. Suddenly a man being tortured to the flame by the French revolution. "Mario" is a thorough republican. As such he is looked upon with suspicion by the Bourbons, then reigning at Rome, and is suspected and watched by the Roman police.

"Save me! I have escaped from the Castle St. Angelo!" This man, whom "Mario" at first takes for a malefactor, is "Cesare Angelotti," a republican, who for political offenses - arrested by the fact that he had been a member of the British Embassy to Rome - has been arrested and sentenced to death. "Mario" swears friendship to "Angelotti" and promises to save him. They arrange to go to "Mario's" villa in the outskirts of Rome and thence to the frontier.

"Angelotti," a beardless youth of 19, clothes himself in some female garb, and goes to get at the church in the church for his model. The disguise is perfect, and "Mario," holding an exquisite in his hand and leaning upon his arm, goes to the church, and the pair arrive in safety at "Mario's" villa.

Meanwhile the father of St. Angelo Castle, whose complexity has enabled "Angelotti" to get at the church in the church for his model. The disguise is perfect, and "Mario," holding an exquisite in his hand and leaning upon his arm, goes to the church, and the pair arrive in safety at "Mario's" villa.

"La Tosca" is "Mario's" mistress, and in spite of the violent contrast in their religious and political creeds, "Mario" loves her each other as passionately as "Romero" and "Juliet." "Scarpia," who combines the serenity of the serpent with the malignity of the wildcat, determines to work "La Tosca" into a paroxysm of jealousy, and thus secure the capture and craft of a jealous woman to discover "Angelotti's" whereabouts.

"La Tosca" is brought to "Mario's" studio. She is made to believe that "Mario" has been arrested as a traitor, and that he is in the hands of the police. "Mario" is known to no one except "La Tosca" and "Mario." "La Tosca" starts at once for the villa, and the police, knowing of her flight, and as "La Tosca" plays at the fan she feels convinced that it is the dramatic situation created by "Sardou" can be compared only with the handsomely dressed scene in "La Tosca" turns almost pale-green with jealousy, while "Scarpia," with insidious, lago-like adroitness, goes on to spurs her to capture the fugitive.

The whereabouts of "Mario's" country house, a veritable lovers' nest, which has been a refuge for "La Tosca" and "Mario," is known to no one except "La Tosca" and "Mario." "La Tosca" starts at once for the villa, and the police, knowing of her flight, and as "La Tosca" plays at the fan she feels convinced that it is the dramatic situation created by "Sardou" can be compared only with the handsomely dressed scene in "La Tosca" turns almost pale-green with jealousy, while "Scarpia," with insidious, lago-like adroitness, goes on to spurs her to capture the fugitive.

"Scarpia." Then, with womanly instinct and tenderness - in dramatic contrast with her monstrous fury of a moment before - she places a silver crucifix on his breast. In the fifth act "La Tosca" informs "Scarpia" the captain of the guard, that she had performed her part of the engagement. "Scarpia's" assassination is still undetermined. "La Tosca" tells the Captain that he must now carry out "Scarpia's" orders about the feigned execution and the execution.

"This the Captain proceeds to do," "Mario Cavaradossi" is told. The firing party is drawn up; the words of command are given: "Ready! Aim! Fire!" "Mario" falls motionless to the ground. "Scarpia" steps forward, bends over the body and places his hand on his heart. He smiles and retreats. "La Tosca" appears. She exclaims:

"Mario!" "Come - all is ready! I have our passports! The carriage is here! In an hour we shall have crossed the frontier." "Mario" remains motionless. "La Tosca" rushes up to him, places her hand on his heart and utters a wild shriek like that of "Mario" when he was undergoing torture. "Mario" is dead. Death is not feigned, but reality. "La Tosca" discovers that the orders to the Captain were to have muskets loaded exactly as for any common criminal. "Scarpia" then appears, merely to gratify his desires and let the result take care of itself. "La Tosca" calls out: "My superior's orders," rejoins "Scarpia."

"La Tosca" bends herself with rage, believing that she has killed "Scarpia," and regrets that she could not have the exquisite delight of rolling back about the neck of "Scarpia" the police, rush off to verify the truth of "La Tosca's" confession. During this absence "La Tosca" kills over the parapet of the Castle of St. Angelo into the Tiber, and the curtain falls.

The image is a vertical, high-contrast scan of a dark, textured surface. It appears to be a book cover or a piece of aged paper. A prominent vertical crease or fold line runs down the center, creating a sharp division. The left side is slightly lighter and shows more texture, while the right side is predominantly black. There are some small, light-colored specks and fibers visible throughout the material.
